(i) SurveyMonkey has implemented policies and procedures to implement privacy by design. All Customer Data within the system is scoped according to appropriate access (by policy) and its lifecycle is maintained by policy. All systems connected to production have data minimization and pseudo anonymization as default, with a view towards preventing privacy and security issues rather than having to remediate them later.

(ii) We consider data protection issues part of the design and implementation of systems, services, products and business practices, and treat data privacy as a core function of our service.

(iii) We anticipate risks and privacy-invasive events before they occur, and take steps to prevent harm to individuals.

(iv) We only process the Customer Data that we need for our purposes(s), and we only use Customer Data for those purposes.

(v) We ensure that Customer Data is automatically protected in any IT system, service, product, and/or business practice, so that individuals should not have to take any specific action to protect their privacy

(vi) We offer strong privacy defaults, user-friendly options and controls, and respect user preferences.

(vii) We use data processors that provide sufficient guarantees of their technical and organizational measures for data protection by design.

(viii) When we use other systems, services or products in our processing activities, we make sure that we only use those whose designers and manufacturers take data privacy issues into account.

(v) Domain: Testing of Data Security Posture.

(i) SurveyMonkey will test its data security posture on an at least annual basis through pen testing through an industry standard tool (such as BurpScanner), or alternatively a certified third party service or consultant.

(w) Domain: Data Loss Prevention Strategy.

(i) SurveyMonkey uses training and education as a data loss prevention strategy. Access to data within the system is scoped and minimized to prevent users from having unneeded access to data. All users are required to sign policies about appropriate access to Customer Data, and this is part of the annual security refresher training.

(x) Domain: Technical Security Measures.

(i) SurveyMonkey is a distributed company so does not have any internal corporate firewalls or intrusion detection for our internal network. All access to corporate resources are to be done over encrypted channels. All corporate resources are required to be stored in MFA-enabled systems.

Standard Contractual Clauses

We have drafted this DPA to include all possible SCC configurations. Not all of them may apply to you. For greater clarity:

- If you are an EU or UK Customer, you do not need SCCs, as you contract with SurveyMonkey's Irish entity, and no SCCs are needed between EU/UK entities.
- If you are a US Customer and consider yourself a data controller, Section 9.2(a) applies to you. You are the controller and the exporter, and SurveyMonkey is the processor and the importer. SCC Module 2 applies to your contract.
- If you are a US Customer and consider yourself a processor, Section 9.2(b) applies to you. You are the processor and the exporter, and SurveyMonkey is the (sub)processor and importer. SCC Module 3 applies to your contract.
- If you are not located in the US, EU, or UK, but you choose to use our EU data storage, Section 9.2(c) applies to you. You are the controller and the importer, and SurveyMonkey is the processor and exporter. SCC Module 4 applies to your contract.
- If you are not located in the US, EU, or UK and do not use our EU data storage, no SCCs are needed as personal data is transferred to SurveyMonkey Europe UC (located in Ireland). No transfer mechanism is needed for transfers into the EU.
